

CAE Listening, Paper 4, Part 2

(Use QSE Advanced Exam Practice Audio, Test 4)

You will hear a conversation on the radio about stem cell research. For questions 7–14, complete the sentences.

STEM CELLS

As opposed to regular cells, stem cells are 7

They can become any kind of cell under specific physiological or 8 conditions.

Roughly 2 per cent of people 9 are affected by Parkinson's disease.

Parkinson's disease attacks the part of the 10 that produces dopamine.

Scientists discovered that transplanted stem cells will produce dopamine in 11

Christopher Reeve wanted to use stem cells to help 12 injuries.

Many 13 are against using embryonic stem cells.

14 stem cells cannot be easily grown in the lab.